

"Hot Rod" Drivers Will Give Test of Skill At New Hope Meet Sunday

Six Events Are to Be Staged Starting At New Hope High School

NEW HOPE, Oct. 25 — Twenty "hot rod" drivers will drive on a 50 mile course starting from the high school Sunday, in a test of skill in driving. The contest will start at 1 p. m.

The hot-rodgers, high school students from this area, are members of the Delaware Valley Sportsters and Timing Association, which they organized August 18. The group is sponsored by Frank Workink and James Magil, says Workink.

Six events will be tests of safe driving and maintaining an assigned speed, with penalties for going above or below the speed assigned. The speeds and the courses will not be announced until the meet opens.

There will be two tests in mechanical ability in making car repairs, one for safety and reaction and the other a race against time. In a backing-up contest, the drivers will use a one-eighth mile course, with four "S" curves.

The Association has been holding weekly meetings in New Hope high school gymnasium. Workink and Magil next week will ask the New Hope Exchange Club to sponsor the hot rodgers, and provide a garage for them.

The rally is the beginning of a scheme to get the boys to drive properly and take care of their equipment," Workink said today. "It will impress on the boys the safety factors. It is not going to be a wild race."

Workink, former operations manager for Royal Dutch Airlines, said he is using the safety instruction methods with which pilots were trained. He was a hot rod driver himself, he says, in Pasadena, Calif., from 1935 to 1938, when he drove a made-over 1932 Model B Ford roadster. Magil is a speed boat enthusiast.

John Kariberg, of Centerbridge, is president of the Sportsters and Timing Association.

S. Koreans Capitalize On Recapture of "Pinpoint"

SEOUL, Oct. 25 — (INS)—South Korean troops slashed forward toward new enemy positions on the central Korean front today, capitalizing on their recapture of strategic Pinpoint hill.

The Republic of Korea forces retook Pinpoint atop Sniper ridge this afternoon in a four-hour battle against a force of 1,500 Chinese Communist soldiers.

The South Koreans had been driven from the top of the ridge earlier by a 20,000-round enemy artillery barrage.

The ROK troops regrouped and counter-attacked to win Pinpoint and then moved forward against the enemy-held area known as "Yoke" on the northernmost face of Sniper ridge.

In the air war this morning, meanwhile, Allied pilots shot down two Russian-type MIG jets over northwest Korea in a series of dog-fights which ranged from seven thousand feet upward to forty-five thousand feet in altitude.

Allied losses, if any, were not reported. They are announced only at the end of each week.

The ground fighting flamed anew on the central front after a comparative lull of two days.

On Pike's Peak in the Triangle Hill area, United States Seventh Division troops tried twice to recapture the hill but were turned back by heavy enemy fire which included almost every type of weapon from artillery to rifles.

Opposes Purchase of Temporary Buildings For Falls Schools

Economy League Suggests How Falls School Needs Can Be Met

FALLSINGTON, Oct. 25 — Meet immediate enrollment increases by double sessions in present facilities or by rental of buildings which can later be converted to other uses, is the advice given to Falls twp. school board by the Lower Bucks County Branch, Penna. Economy League Inc., in its recent report of a survey its members made of the school plant.

The league went on record as opposing the erection or purchase of temporary facilities.

Falls township should begin planning for additional school structures the report advised. It cautioned that in the construction of these schools the over-all school system should be considered and that individual schools should not be thought of as geared only to local needs.

A poll of families in the Pine-wood and Lakeside sections of Levittown indicated that most of the families living there had children of pre-school age. The report, who will attend schools from those sections of Levittown will be much less than had been previously anticipated.

The report advises that if enrollment increases substantially before successive stages of the permanent school plant are completed it would be best to apply double sessions or go into rented temporary classrooms.

Health Clinic Here To Be Available To Newcomers

Levittowners and Residents of Fairless Hills Privileged To Use Services

Levittown and Fairless Hills villagers, and others new to Lower Bucks County, may not be aware of the services available to them, free of charge, at the Pennsylvania State Health Clinic in Bristol.

The clinic, in operation since 1909, is directed by Mrs. Louise H. Lohr, state health nurse, who trained at Temple University Hospital, Phila., and took charge here in 1939.

"Well-baby" and chest clinics are held Tuesdays at the health center, in the Bristol Community House, Dorance and Cedar st., and there is a weekly baby clinic in Bristol Terrace.

Mrs. Lohr also makes calls at homes in Lower Bucks County, checking on and treating public health cases, and giving advice in home nursing where it is necessary.

The Bristol center is one of three State Health Clinics in Bucks County. There are others at Doylestown and Quakertown. Mrs. Lohr's office serves Lower Makefield, Falls, Middletown, Lower Southampton, Bensalem and Bristol twps., and the boroughs of Bristol, Tullytown, Langhorne, Yardley, Morrisville.

Babies are weighed and examined at the two well-baby clinics, and the parents advised on their food and care. At the Bristol Community House, Dr. Vincent E. Romano holds a well-baby clinic each Tuesday from 10 a. m. to noon. Dr. Thomas S. Fannin conducts a similar clinic in Bristol Terrace II School Building, Anderson ave., Wednesdays from 3 to 5 p. m.

Newly-born babies are often taken to the clinic week after week for check-ups, according to Mrs. Lohr, who assists at both well-baby clinics. As the children grow, the parents usually reduce their visits to every two weeks or month.

There is no charge for the well-baby clinics, Mrs. Lohr says, nor do the parents have to be indigent to use them. The weekly chest clinics, and other services of the State Health Department, are also free to everyone.

Dr. George S. Weinstein conducts the chest clinics Tuesdays from 3 to 4 p. m. at the Bristol Community House. Tuberculosis patients, and persons who have been in contact with recent TB victims are examined there. Routine chest examinations are not given at the clinic because of a lack of sufficient personnel and equipment, but persons wanting tests for tuberculosis are referred to survey centers.

Mrs. Lohr makes regular calls at the home of crippled children and checks on exercises assigned them by the state. There will be a state diagnostic clinic for orthopedic cases Nov. 7 at Abington Hospital, she announces. Appointments may be made through her. She obtains treatment for persons

Speakers At George School Convocation Address Audience of 500; Jonathan Daniels Urges Confidence In The Future of Nation

Introductory Remarks Are Made By Principal Richard H. McFeeley; Sessions Will Continue Today and Again Tomorrow

NEWTOWN, Oct. 25 — Jonathan Daniels urged confidence in the future on the strength of "the old certainties of man's knowledge and faith" at the opening session of the George School Convocation last night and William Balderston of Philadelphia, tracing the rise of American business, predicted a bright future for the U. S. with education and business as partners in freedom.

Former presidential press secretary Daniels, who has two daughters at George School, spoke on "Current America: Challenge to Education." Balderston, president of the Philco Corporation, discussed "Education and Business: Partners in Freedom." He also donated a 21-inch television set to the school.

Introductory remarks to the 500 assembled at the convocation marking the 300th anniversary of the Society of Friends, were made by Principal Richard H. McFeeley.

Daniels denied that we live in a divided nation, despite what he called "louder and louder noises around us." He commented that we are never allowed to forget for a minute that we live in a divided world.

"Indeed," he said, "there are many who suggest that all education and everything else should be based upon the uninterrupted contemplation of division, which may bring us only to catastrophe. . . . Some highly vocal men have suggested that we give up our liberties in order to protect them. Sometimes proscription is presented as an epitome of patriotism."

He called upon educators to give more emphasis to the fact that "the only education for the uncertainties of change are the old certainties of man's knowledge and faith."

Referring to his own Quaker ancestry, he lauded George School and Friends education for standing by old values, and asserted his faith that "those who come here in T-shirts and convertibles" will be able to deal with an uncertain future as ably as their predecessors who arrived in black hats and buggy.

"What we can hope," the North Carolina author and publisher concluded, "is that (youth) is a generation, too, which can face a new world, dream the new cities (such as built by a late friend and architect of his). Accident may await it (this generation). The possibility of death will not deter it."

"We educate not for fear because of uncertainty, but for confidence, eagerness, creativity and adventure in whatever may come. And only the old certainties will suffice and sustain educated men in the world before them."

Idaho-born, William Balderston related his Bucks County family background and mentioned the Declaration of Independence and our Constitution in defining freedom, ending with the statement that "the state exists for the individual, not the individual for the state."

He declared that business had an obligation to find a common ground with education to preserve the ideals of individual freedom on the one hand, and to strengthen their influence and understanding among our people.

"He said that 'the most fruitful years of the free enterprise system lie ahead of us, if we pursue sound National policies and encourage the initiative of Americans.'"

He predicted that 10,000,000 American homes would be replaced by modern dwellings or brought up to date in the coming decade.

Saying that the essence of the American system of individual freedom was free competitive enterprise, Balderston related the immense forward strides taken economically to benefit the U. S. citizen. In the 2,100 years before 1800, for example, man's purchasing power remained stable; since 1800 it has shot up four times, he said. And the worker had to spend only two-thirds as many hours earning it. National income has been boosted from seven billion dollars in 1850 to about 239 billion in 1950, he stated.

He used as a case history of technological progress the growth of his Philco Corporation television business. Then he donated to George School one of the TV sets used in illustrating this part of his talk.

He defined the modern corporation as being concerned that workers and management "share a common interest in increased production (and understand) that our society is founded on a harmony rather than a conflict of classes."

He spelled out ways whereby education might get a broader concept of modern business practices and, in turn, business might become better acquainted with education.

He said that a bright future could be achieved with the removal of the specter of illness through the advances of medical science, and that "college education must be made available to worthy sons and daughters of American families, regardless of their economic background."

Six events will be tests of safe driving and maintaining an assigned speed, with penalties for going above or below the speed assigned. The speeds and the courses will not be announced until the meet opens.

Four Automobiles Are Damaged In 2 Crashes

Occupants Escape Injury In Accidents Here and in Middletown Twp.

Two cars were damaged yesterday at 2:50 p. m. when they collided at Beaver and Spring streets. No injuries to the drivers were reported.

The accident occurred according to borough police, when Angelo Pugliese, 904 Jefferson avenue, whose car was traveling north on Beaver street attempted to make a right turn on to Spring street. The automobile driven by George W. Kinsey, 209 State road, Croydon, struck and damaged the right rear fender and door of Pugliese's car. George T. Fleming and Sons is listed as the owner of the car driven by Kinsey, which received damage to the bumper. Officer Chichilitti investigated.

Opposes Purchase of Temporary Buildings For Falls Schools

Economy League Suggests How Falls School Needs Can Be Met

FALLSINGTON, Oct. 25 — Meet immediate enrollment increases by double sessions in present facilities or by rental of buildings which can later be converted to other uses, is the advice given to Falls twp. school board by the Lower Bucks County Branch, Penna. Economy League Inc., in its recent report of a survey its members made of the school plant.

The league went on record as opposing the erection or purchase of temporary facilities.

Falls township should begin planning for additional school structures the report advised. It cautioned that in the construction of these schools the over-all school system should be considered and that individual schools should not be thought of as geared only to local needs.

A poll of families in the Pine-wood and Lakeside sections of Levittown indicated that most of the families living there had children of pre-school age. The number of children, according to the report, who will attend schools from those sections of Levittown will be much less than had been previously anticipated.

The report advises that if enrollment increases substantially before successive stages of the permanent school plant are completed it would be best to apply double sessions or go into rented temporary classrooms.

"Ike" To Go To Korea If He Wins The Election

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER, Oct. 25 — (INS) — Gen. Eisenhower returns to New York today with the sensational pledge that if elected he personally will go to Korea to try to end the war.

The GOP presidential candidate asserted in Detroit last night that his first job as president would be: "... To forego the diversions of politics and concentrate on the job of ending the Korean war — until that job is honorably done."

The former five-star general said: "That job requires a personal trip to Korea. ... I shall go to Korea."

Eisenhower told an audience of 5,000 in the Masonic Temple in Detroit, that he would "review and re-examine" every possible course of action to bring about an "early and honorable" end to the undeclared war that has been raging since 1950.

With only 10 days left before the election, the Republican candidate will speak later today to a gathering in Harlem, in an attempt to win support among New York City's heavy Negro population.

In Detroit, Eisenhower scored the Administration and the State Department for what he said was its failure to outwit the "totalitarian mind" and asserted that the Korean war followed the "collapse of our political defenses."

Health Clinic Here To Be Available To Newcomers

Levittowners and Residents of Fairless Hills Privileged To Use Services

Levittown and Fairless Hills villagers, and others new to Lower Bucks County, may not be aware of the services available to them, free of charge, at the Pennsylvania State Health Clinic in Bristol.

The clinic, in operation since 1909, is directed by Mrs. Louise H. Lohr, state health nurse, who trained at Temple University Hospital, Phila., and took charge here in 1939.

"Well-baby" and chest clinics are held Tuesdays at the health center, in the Bristol Community House, Dorance and Cedar st., and there is a weekly baby clinic in Bristol Terrace.

Mrs. Lohr also makes calls at homes in Lower Bucks County, checking on and treating public health cases, and giving advice in home nursing where it is necessary.

The Bristol center is one of three State Health clinics in Bucks County. There are others at Doylestown and Quakertown. Mrs. Lohr's office serves Lower Makefield, Falls, Middletown, Lower Southampton, Bensalem and Bristol twps., and the boroughs of Bristol, Tullytown, Langhorne, Yardley, Morrisville.

Babies are weighed and examined at the two well-baby clinics, and the parents advised on their food and care. At the Bristol Community House, Dr. Vincent E. Romano holds a well-baby clinic each Tuesday from 10 a. m. to noon. Dr. Thomas S. Fannin conducts a similar clinic in Bristol Terrace II School Building, Anderson ave., Wednesdays from 3 to 5 p. m.

Newly-born babies are often taken to the clinic week after week for check-ups, according to Mrs. Lohr, who assists at both well-baby clinics. As the children grow, the parents usually reduce their visits to every two weeks or month.

There is no charge for the well-baby clinics, Mrs. Lohr says, nor do the parents have to be indigent to use them. The weekly chest clinics, and other services of the State Health Department, are also free to everyone.

Dr. George S. Weinstein conducts the chest clinics Tuesdays from 3 to 4 p. m. at the Bristol Community House. Tuberculosis patients, and persons who have been in contact with recent TB victims are examined there. Routine chest examinations are not given at the clinic because of a lack of sufficient personnel and equipment, but persons wanting tests for tuberculosis are referred to survey centers.

Mrs. Lohr makes regular calls at the home of crippled children and checks on exercises assigned them by the state. There will be a state diagnostic clinic for orthopedic cases Nov. 7 at Abington Hospital, she announces. Appointments may be made through her. She obtains treatment for persons

Speakers At George School Convocation Address Audience of 500; Jonathan Daniels Urges Confidence In The Future of Nation

Introductory Remarks Are Made By Principal Richard H. McFeeley; Sessions Will Continue Today and Again Tomorrow

NEWTOWN, Oct. 25 — Jonathan Daniels urged confidence in the future on the strength of "the old certainties of man's knowledge and faith" at the opening session of the George School Convocation last night and William Balderston of Philadelphia, tracing the rise of American business, predicted a bright future for the U. S. with education and business as partners in freedom.

Former presidential press secretary Daniels, who has two daughters at George School, spoke on "Current America: Challenge to Education." Balderston, president of the Philco Corporation, discussed "Education and Business: Partners in Freedom." He also donated a 21-inch television set to the school.

Introductory remarks to the 500 assembled at the convocation marking the 300th anniversary of the Society of Friends, were made by Principal Richard H. McFeeley.

Daniels denied that we live in a divided nation, despite what he called "louder and louder noises around us." He commented that we are never allowed to forget for a minute that we live in a divided world.

"Indeed," he said, "there are many who suggest that all education and everything else should be based upon the uninterrupted contemplation of division, which may bring us only to catastrophe. ... Some highly vocal men have suggested that we give up our liberties in order to protect them. Sometimes proscription is presented as an epitome of patriotism."

He called upon educators to give more emphasis to the fact that "the only education for the uncertainties of change are the old certainties of man's knowledge and faith." Referring to his own Quaker ancestry, he lauded George School and Friends education for standing by old values, and asserted his faith that "those who come here in T-shirts and convertibles" will be able to deal with an uncertain future as ably as their predecessors who arrived in black hats and buggy.

"What we can hope," the North Carolina author and publisher concluded, "is that (youth) is a generation, too, which can face a new world, dream the new cities (such as built by a late friend and architect of his). Accident may await it (this generation). The possibility of death will not deter it."

"We educate not for fear because of uncertainty, but for confidence, eagerness, creativeness and adventure in whatever may come. And only the old certainties will suffice and sustain educated men in the world before them."

Idaho-born, William Balderston related his Bucks County family background and mentioned the Declaration of Independence and our Constitution in defining freedom, ending with the statement that "the state exists for the individual, not the individual for the state."

He declared that business had an obligation to find a common ground with education to preserve the ideals of individual freedom on the one hand, and to strengthen their influence and understanding among our people.

He said that "the most fruitful years of the free enterprise system lie ahead of us, if we pursue sound National policies and encourage the initiative of Americans."

He predicted that 10,000,000 American homes would be replaced by modern dwellings or brought up to date in the coming decade.

Saying that the essence of the American system of individual freedom was free competitive enterprise, Balderston related the immense forward strides taken economically to benefit the U. S. citizen. In the 2,100 years before 1800, for example, man's purchasing power remained stable; since 1800 it has shot up four times, he said. And the worker had to spend only two-thirds as many hours earning it. National income has been boosted from seven billion dollars in 185

NEW FAIR TRADE TEST

So-called fair trade legislation is again the subject of judicial review. Though differing in circumstance, the present case, like the one decided by the U. S. Supreme Court last year, arises from a retailer selling a trade-marked article below the price set by the producer or distributor.

The specific issue is whether an amendment of the Federal Trade Commission Act now makes state fair trade laws enforceable against retailers who have signed no price agreement.

The laws in 44 states stipulate that any retailer who sells a trade-marked article "at less than the stipulated price in any contract" shall be guilty of unfair practice, even though he is not a party to the contract.

In the initial court review it was contended for the states that this provision was validated by a 1939 amendment of the federal antitrust laws. The court ruled to the contrary, holding that the amendment related only to the right to use a contract to fix prices; that it did not give producers and distributors "a club as well."

Seeking to nullify the effect of the decision, Congress, under pressure, passed a bill last July providing that no federal antitrust law "shall render unlawful" the enforcement of state fair trade laws against retailers not signing contracts. The declared aim was to "protect the rights of the states" — a thinly disguised deceit.

Various retailers have continued to fix their own prices, with producers apparently in no haste to start a new legal test. It remained for a pharmaceutical concern to break the stalemate. Curiously the proceeding is against the retailer who as defendant in the 1951 case beat the "fair traders" to a finish in the court of last resort and promises a repeat performance.

A haircut is now $1.50 in Chicago, Los Angeles, etc. Baldness may soon be regarded as a blessing in disguise.

After 1977 look out for atomic rocks, military experts say. That leaves just 25 years to eat, drink and be merry.

Candidates are always pictured as smiling, but the smile supply is expected to decline sharply after November 3.

NEW FAIR TRADE TEST

So-called fair trade legislation is again the subject of judicial review. Though differing in circumstance, the present case, like the one decided by the U. S. Supreme Court last year, arises from a retailer selling a trade-marked article below the price set by the producer or distributor.

The specific issue is whether an amendment of the Federal Trade Commission Act now makes state fair trade laws enforceable against retailers who have signed no price agreement.

The laws in 44 states stipulate that any retailer who sells a trade-marked article "at less than the stipulated price in any contract" shall be guilty of unfair practice, even though he is not a party to the contract.

In the initial court review it was contended for the states that this provision was validated by a 1939 amendment of the federal antitrust laws. The court ruled to the contrary, holding that the amendment related only to the right to use a contract to fix prices; that it did not give producers and distributors "a club as well."

Seeking to nullify the effect of the decision, Congress, under pressure, passed a bill last July providing that no federal antitrust law "shall render unlawful" the enforcement of state fair trade laws against retailers not signing contracts. The declared aim was to "protect the rights of the states."

A thinly disguised deceit. Various retailers have continued to fix their own prices, with producers apparently in no haste to start a new legal test. It remained for a pharmaceutical concern to break the stalemate. Curiously the proceeding is against the retailer who as defendant in the 1951 case beat the "fair traders" to a finish in the court of last resort and promises a repeat performance.

A haircut is now $1.50 in Chicago, Los Angeles, etc. Baldness may soon be regarded as a blessing in disguise.

After 1977 look out for atonic rocks, military experts say. "This leaves just 25 years to eat, drink and be merry."

Candidates are always pictured as smiling, but the smile supply is expected to decline sharply after

Neshaminy Moves Closer To League Honors By Bristol Win

Neshaminy High moved a step closer to the Lower Bucks County championship by defeating Bristol High, 14-6, last night before the largest crowd of the season on the Bristol field. It was Neshaminy's fourth straight league victory.

The game was close and exciting all the way with playing on even terms throughout and both teams waiting for scoring breaks. Bristol drew first blood at the start of the second quarter but Neshaminy came back and with 17 seconds remaining before the half-time whistle, scored its first touchdown. The Redskins scored their insurance touchdown in the final period. The visitors also had a touchdown called back in the first quarter because of a penalty.

Neshaminy made eleven first downs to Bristol's 10. The winners went into the air twenty-one times and completed 9. Bristol threw 18 aerials with nine being completed.

Gary Latham and Ray Brodie scored the Neshaminy touchdowns with Furman Lex converting the two extra points on placement kicks. Fred Kornstedt scored the Bristol touchdown.

The teams were scoreless in the first quarter although Neshaminy had a touchdown called back. Bristol took the opening kickoff which Cohen ran back to his 27. The locals failed to gain so Jack Gleason kicked to the Neshaminy 45. Lou Maurer picked up 4 yards and then Ken Kauffman wiggled his way through the Bristol secondary to run 51 yards for a touchdown but a penalty was inflicted against the Redskins and the play nullified.

On the next play, Dave Lewis got possession for Bristol by recovering a fumble on the Neshaminy 39.

However, the Warriors failed to capitalize on the break and after failing to gain had Gleason kick to the Neshaminy 18. Don Cameron made the visitors initial first down by running to the 29 on the first play. But Bristol held and Al Hoffman booted to the 42 from where Gene Dugan ran it back to the Neshaminy 30. Davis gained 11 yards on a plunge but on the next play Bristol drew five-yards because of the backfield being in motion and Larry Cohen led five on an attempted run. Les Gibbs passed to Cohen who was thrown out of bounds on the 25. Gibbs whipped a pass to Kornstedt who was spilled for a first down on the Neshaminy 13. Davis and Gleason went to the 6 and then Gleason made it a first on the 1-yard line as the quarter ended.

Neshaminy braced for the first two plays, holding Bristol from scoring but Coach "Chick" D'Angelo sent in Gibbs who threw a pass to Kornstedt for a 2-yard touchdown. The extra point try failed.

The Redskins made a 70-yard drive to score before the half was over. Following a punt return, Bristol with Roland Davis and Cohen doing the hauling went to the Neshaminy 37. It gained 7 more yards before losing the ball on downs.

As time was running out, Neshaminy launched a fast offensive drive. Brodie made a first on his 41. A pass, Maurer to Hoffman netted 7. Kauffman slipped through center for a first on the Bristol 43. Brodie knocked off 23 yards for a first on the 20. Kauffman and Maurer picked up 6 yards. With seventeen seconds left to play, Maurer threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Latham to deadlock the score. Lex placed-kicked the conversion to give Neshaminy a 7-6 lead.

Neither team dented the scoring column in the third period. Neshaminy got as close as the 13-yard line before the Bristol forward wall braced and held for downs. A pass, Dugan to Cohen, gave Bristol a first on Neshaminy's 40 but on the following play, Bristol fumbled with Anthony Peale and Walt Hessler recovering for Neshaminy. Neshaminy failed to gain with Bristol taking over on its 33. Gibbs completed a 15 yard pass to Jack Gleason and Dugan went through center for a first on Neshaminy's 40 but the Redskins held and took over on downs.

The visitors scored again in the last quarter on a 56 yard march. A pass, Brodie to Kauffman, was good for 26 yards. Two plays later, Brodie threw to Lex to put the ball on Bristol's 18. Maurer hit the line for two and Brodie, 5. Kauffman made a first on Bristol's 8. After Kauffman picked up a yard, Brodie went through the line and scored. Lex again converted the extra point, making the score 14-6.

Bristol tried desperately to score again as Gleason took the kickoff and ran from his 15 to the Neshaminy 46. After Cohen netted a yard on a line play, Neshaminy was penalized 15 yards to its 30. But Bristol passes were downed to give Neshaminy possession at this point.

The triumph practically assured Neshaminy of the Lower Bucks crown with its four wins and no defeats. Coach Harry Franks team has two league contests remaining on the schedule, Southampton and Bensalem.

Bristol, defending champions, has won two and lost two and has Bensalem and Morrisville to play.

Lineups:

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Spoiling the Picture

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—As the campaign approaches its end, the legend so consistently sought to be established that Governor Stevenson is a conspicuously high-minded, notably candid candidate who scorns evasion and despises distortion of the truth has worn pretty thin. It is somewhat ironical that the men most responsible for spoiling this pretty picture of the Democratic candidate should be President Truman and ex-President Herbert Hoover.

It would be difficult, indeed, to find two individuals in whom the contrast in their intellectual equipment, their ethical standards in public and private life, their characters, careers and achievements is as great. In them the contrast is practically complete and it is unnecessary to say that their cooperation in the job of destroying the Stevenson pretense of "unmitigated nobility" was entirely unconscious. Characteristically, Mr. Hoover, in his recent speech, dealt with undisputable facts and figures. The main theme of the Stevenson campaign has been that the Republican party is the party of reaction, isolationism and Wall Street domination. By the time Mr. Hoover got through displaying the record there not only seemed little sense in the Stevenson charges but it was pretty clear that he had been guilty of making them without foundation in fact.

Since then two things seem worth noting. One is that Mr. Stevenson's allegations of the utter wickedness of the Republican party have been considerably less sweeping than there has been no answer from that there has been no answer from the Democratic side of the documented Hoover charges of willful misrepresentation. And though these charges hit Mr. Truman as well as Mr. Stevenson, there has come from the President no reply either, though certainly they have not slowed him down. Even Mr. Hoover's factual comparison of the corruption in the Harding Administration, of which he was a part, with that of the Truman Administration brought no retort. Strong as was the Hoover refutation, there are plenty who believe that Mr. Truman, whose declared purpose was the reverse, has really done more to smear the picture of a high-minded Stevenson determined to conduct a high-level campaign.

He has achieved this by the violence and coarseness of his language, his unrestrained personal abuse of General Eisenhower and his general disregard of the truth. The reason this damaged the Stevenson picture is that Mr. Stevenson is no longer in position to dissent from the Truman strategy, has, in fact, congratulated him and urged a continuance; is now frankly running on the Truman record. Apparently he has completely forgotten the Washington "mess" for the mere mention of which he was rebuked by Mr. Truman. Of course, wholly aside from the aid of Mr. Truman and Mr. Hoover, Mr. Stevenson himself has done no little to detract from that high-minded legend and to nullify his own declared purpose to be absolutely candid with the voters.

For example, he has cleverly evaded the question as to whether, if elected, he would continue ex-Mayor O'Dwyer as our Ambassador to Mexico. Mr. Truman, it will be recalled, appointed Mr. O'Dwyer Ambassador under pressure from Boss Eddie (Paving Block) Flynn, of New York, after the Kefauver Crime Committee had thoroughly discredited Mr. O'Dwyer by revealing his connection with various notorious gangsters, such as Costello.

His appointment is widely regarded as the most indefensible of Truman appointments. Nor has Mr. Stevenson, though hammering hard upon General Ike's support of Senators McCarthy, Jenner and Kem, explained his support of Mr. John Cashmore, the Tammany candidate for the Senate in New York. Mr. Cashmore is so tough that neither the Liberal party nor the Americans for Democratic Action, both of which are strong for Stevenson, could swallow him and have presented candidates of their own. But the high-minded Mr. Stevenson swallowed him.

In brief, Mr. Stevenson is doing in New York exactly what he denounced General Ike for doing in other states. His support of Mr. Cashmore is for exactly the same reason the General supports McCarthy, to wit, that he is the nominee of his party in his own State—and thus on his team. Yet Mr. Stevenson has had the extraordinary effrontery to highly praise himself for not being in that position. Nothing could be more hypocritically false.

Adding to all this, the degrading surrender of Mr. Stevenson to the labor bosses on their demand for complete repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and to the Negro leaders on the question of a FEPA and the Senate rules, which he had once asserted were the business of the Senate and not of the Executive—all add this up and the picture of Mr. Stevenson as a high-minded, candid candidate who scorns evasion and despises misrepresentation becomes somewhat absurd.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

ONE of your best buys for a main dish to satisfy your budget and your family is fowl or stewing chicken. For a different way of serving it, try this recipe for Chili Chicken suggested by the A & P Service for Homemakers.

To serve five to six, get a four-pound fowl cut up for stewing. Clean and wash well. Melt three tablespoons of fat in a heavy stew pot and add the chicken. Sauté until medium brown. Add one medium size onion, chopped fine, and continue to sauté about five minutes more, stirring frequently. Sprinkle with three tablespoons of flour and one to two teaspoons of chili powder. Drain one No. 2 1/2 can of tomatoes and chop tomatoes fine. Add to the stew the tomatoes along with their juice, two cups of boiling water, two chicken bouillon cubes, one-half cup of chili sauce and two tablespoons of minced parsley. Mix well and bring to a boil. Then lower flame and simmer slowly, with pot covered, until chicken is very tender, about two and one-half hours. Remove floating fat during and after cooking. Season to taste and serve with buttered rice and green string beans.

For dessert, serve fruit-and-nut gelatin. Dissolve one package of raspberry or lime-flavored Sparkle gelatin and one-fourth teaspoon of salt in one cup of hot water. Add one cup of cold water and chill. Meanwhile, sprinkle one tablespoon of lemon juice over two-thirds cup of diced banana. When gelatin is slightly thickened, fold in bananas and one-third cup of chopped pecan meats. Turn into six individual molds. Chill until firm, unmold, and serve with whipped cream.

Automatic... Just set the thermostat and forget it.

Neshaminy Moves Closer To League Honors By Bristol Win

Neshaminy High moved a step closer to the Lower Bucks County championship by defeating Bristol High, 14-6, last night before the largest crowd of the season on the Bristol field. It was Neshaminy's fourth straight league victory.

The game was close and exciting all the way with playing on even terms throughout and both teams waiting for scoring breaks. Bristol drew first blood at the start of the second quarter but Neshaminy came back and with 17 seconds remaining before the half-time whistle, scored its first touchdown. The Redskins scored their insurance touchdown in the final period. The visitors also had a touchdown called back in the first quarter because of a penalty.

Neshaminy made eleven first downs to Bristol's 10. The winners went into the air twenty-one times and completed 9. Bristol threw 18 aerials with nine being completed. Gary Latham and Ray Brodie scored the Neshaminy touchdowns with Furman Lex converting the two extra points on placement kicks. Fred Kornstedt scored the Bristol touchdown.

The teams were scoreless in the first quarter although Neshaminy had a touchdown called back. Bristol took the opening kickoff which Cohen ran back to his 27. The locals failed to gain so Jack Gleason kicked to the Neshaminy 45. Lou Maurer picked up 4 yards and then Ken Kauffman wiggled his way through the Bristol secondary to run 51 yards for a touchdown but a penalty was inflicted against the Redskins and the play nullified.

On the next play, Dave Lewis got possession for Bristol by recovering a fumble on the Neshaminy 39. However, the Warriors failed to capitalize on the break and after failing to gain had Gleason kick to the Neshaminy 18. Don Cameron made the visitors initial first down by running to the 29 on the first play. But Bristol held and Al Hoffman booted to the 42 from where Gene Dugan ran it back to the Neshaminy 30. Davis gained 11 yards on a plunge but on the next play Bristol drew five-yards because of the backfield being in motion and Larry Cohen lost five on an attempted run. Les Gibbs passed to Cohen who was thrown out of bounds on the 25. Gibbs whipped a pass to Kornstedt who was spilled for a first down on the Neshaminy 13. Davis and Gleason went to the 6 and then Gleason made it a first on the 1-yard line as the quarter ended.

Neshaminy braced for the first two plays, holding Bristol from scoring but Coach "Chick" D'Angelo sent in Gibbs who threw a pass to Kornstedt for a 2-yard touchdown. The extra point try failed. The Redskins made a 70-yard drive to score before the half was over. Following a punt return, Bristol with Roland Davis and Cohen doing the hauling went to the Neshaminy 37. It gained 7 more yards before losing the ball on downs.

As time was running out, Neshaminy launched a fast offensive drive. Brodie made a first on his 41. A pass, Maurer to Hoffman netted 7. Kauffman slipped through center for a first on the Bristol 43. Brodie knocked off 23 yards for a first on the 20. Kauffman and Maurer picked up 6 yards. With seventeen seconds left to play, Maurer threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Latham.

to deadlock the score. Lex place-kicked the conversion to give Neshaminy a 7-6 lead.

Neither team dented the scoring column in the third period. Neshaminy got as close as the 13-yard line before the Bristol forward wall braced and held for downs. A pass, Dugan to Cohen, gave Bristol a first on Neshaminy's 40 but on the following play, Bristol fumbled with Anthony Peale and Walt Hessler recovering for Neshaminy. Neshaminy failed to gain with Bristol taking over on its 33. Gibbs completed a 15 yard pass to Jack Gleason and Dugan went through center for a first on Neshaminy's 40 but the Redskins held and took over on downs.

The visitors scored again in the last quarter on a 56 yard march. A pass, Brodie to Kauffman, was good for 26 yards. Two plays later, Brodie threw to Lex to put the ball on Bristol's 18. Maurer hit the line for two and Brodie, 5. Kauffman made a first on Bristol's 8. After Kauffman picked up a yard, Brodie went through the line and scored. Lex again converted the extra point, making the score 14-6.

Bristol tried desperately to score again as Gleason took the kickoff and ran from his 15 to the Neshaminy 46. After Cohen netted a yard on a line play, Neshaminy penalized 15 yards to its 30. But Bristol passes were downed to give Neshaminy possession at this point.

The triumph practically assured Neshaminy of the Lower Bucks crown with its four wins and no defeats. Coach Harry Franks team has two league contests remaining on the schedule, Southampton and Bensalem.

Bristol, defending champions, has won two and lost two and has Bensalem and Morrisville to play.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

ONE of your best buys for a main dish to satisfy your budget and your family is fowl or stewing chicken. For a different way of serving it, try this recipe for Chili Chicken suggested by the A & P Service for Homemakers.

To serve five to six, get a four-pound fowl cut up for stewing. Clean and wash well. Melt three tablespoons of fat in a heavy stew pot and add the chicken. Saute until medium brown. Add one medium size onion, chopped fine, and continue to saute about five minutes more, stirring frequently. Sprinkle with three tablespoons of flour and one to two teaspoons of chili powder. Drain one No. 2½ can of tomatoes and chop tomatoes fine. Add to the stew the tomatoes along with their juice, two cups of boiling water, two chicken bouillon cubes, one-half cup of chili sauce and two tablespoons of minced parsley. Mix well and bring to a boil. Then lower flame and simmer slowly, with pot covered, until chicken is very tender, about two and one-half hours. Remove floating fat during and after cooking. Season to taste and serve with buttered rice and green string beans.

For dessert, serve fruit-and-nut gelatin. Dissolve one package of raspberry or lime-flavored Sparkle gelatin and one-fourth teaspoon of salt in one cup of hot water. Add one cup of cold water and chill. Meanwhile, sprinkle one tablespoon of lemon juice over two-thirds cup of diced banana. When gelatin is slightly thickened, fold in bananas and one-third cup of chopped pecan meats. Turn into six individual molds. Chill until firm, unmold, and serve with whipped cream.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Spoiling the Picture

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—As the campaign approaches it is end, the legend so consistently sought to be established that Governor Stevenson is a conspicuously high-minded, notably candid candidate who scorns evasion and despises distortion of the truth has worn pretty thin. It is somewhat ironical that the men most responsible for spoiling the pretty picture of the Democratic candidate should be President Truman and ex-President Herbert Hoover.

It would be difficult, indeed, to find two individuals in whom the contrast in their intellectual equipment, their ethical standards in public and private life, their characters, careers and achievements is as great. In them the contrast is practically complete and it is unnecessary to say that their cooperation in the job of destroying the Stevenson pretense of "unmitigated nobility" was entirely unconscious. Characteristically, Mr. Hoover, in his recent speech, dealt with undisputable facts and figures. The main theme of the Stevenson campaign has been that the Republican party is the party of reaction, isolationism and Wall Street domination. By the time Mr. Hoover got through displaying the record there not only seemed little sense in the Stevenson charges but it was pretty clear that he had been guilty of making them without foundation in fact.

Since then two things seem worth noting. One is that Mr. Stevenson's allegations of the utter wickedness of the Republican party have been considerably less sweeping than there has been no answer from that there has been no answer from the Democratic side of the documented Hoover charges of willful misrepresentation. And though these charges hit Mr. Truman as well as Mr. Stevenson, there has come from the President no reply either, though certainly they have not slowed him down. Even Mr. Hoover's factual comparison of the corruption in the Harding Administration, of which he was a part, with that of the Truman Administration brought no retort. Strong as was the Hoover refutation, there are plenty who believe that Mr. Truman, whose declared purpose was the reverse, has really done more to smear the picture of a high-minded Stevenson determined to conduct a high-level campaign.

He has achieved this by the violence and coarseness of his language, his unrestrained personal abuse of General Eisenhower and his general disregard of the truth. The reason this damaged the Stevenson picture is that Mr. Stevenson is no longer in position to dissent from the Truman strategy. He has, in fact, congratulated him and urged a continuance; is now frankly running on the Truman record. Apparently he has completely forgotten the Washington "mess" for the mere mention of which he was rebuked by Mr. Truman. Of course, wholly aside from the aid of Mr. Truman and Mr. Hoover, Mr. Stevenson himself has done no little to detract from that high-minded legend and to nullify his own declared purpose to be absolutely candid with the voters.

For example, he has cleverly evaded the question as to whether, if elected, he would continue ex-Mayor O'Dwyer as our Ambassador to Mexico. Mr. Truman, it will be recalled, appointed Mr. O'Dwyer Ambassador under pressure from Boss Eddie (Paving Block) Flynn, of New York, after the Kefauver Crime Committee had thoroughly discredited Mr. O'Dwyer by revealing his connection with various notorious gangsters, such as Costello.

His appointment is widely regarded as the most indefensible of Truman appointments. Nor has Mr. Stevenson, though hammering hard upon General Ike's support of Senators McCarthy, Jenner and Kem, explained his support of Mr. John Cashmore, the Tammany candidate for the Senate in New York. Mr. Cashmore is so tough that neither the Liberal party nor the Americans for Democratic Action, both of which are strong for Stevenson, could swallow him
